HAD A GOOD TIME

A WESTERN MAN'S VIEW OF AN EASTERN FUNCTION.

HOUSE WAS "ALL LIT UP"

An Explanation of Why Mr. Taft Doesn't Raise Garden "Sass" in Place of Roses.

By VAN CLEVE.

Washington, D. C., June 20.—A society note: Mr. and Mrs. William H. Taft, two very respectable and well liked residents of this city, celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary Monday evening. The affair, which is rated as the most brilliant of the season's social events, was held at their cozy residence on Pennsylvania avenue northwest.

Their comfortable little home is one of the prettiest in that section of the city and always looks fresh and clean and cheerful, being painted snow white. This the friends of these good people say is in harmony with the purity of the life and thoughts of its humble occupants. This, too, is one of the very few homes in this city that is accompanied with ample and spacious lawns, and the grounds about this home indicate that Mr. Taft is a man of good taste and has considerable pride in his surroundings. He keeps the grass carefully mowed and the many shade trees are frequently topped and he never allows a loose panel to fall from the yard fence. Mrs. Taft is also a lady of artistic taste, and she has planted a good many flowers here and there about the premises, which are quite ornamental, such as holly hocks, peonas, sweet peas and lilac bushes. There are also several rose bushes. They give their attention largely to these efforts to make the premises neat and attractive rather than to attempt to raise much garden. The vegetable hucksters here are very reasonable, and as Mr. Taft and his wife have a good deal of company, they do not have much time to hoe potatoes or stick the peas.

While this worthy couple is somewhat past the meridian of life they are quite progressive and up-to-date, and have their house liberally lighted with electricity. On this particular occasion they not only had all the house lights burning at once, but they had a lot of them put out in the yard among the trees and around the outlines of the house, so that the crowd of guests could have more room and keep cool and get around in the dark corners for little tete-a-tetes like the young folks do at parties in Maryville. They even had an American flag on the side of the house made of electric bulbs, and which was kept waving by moving rows of white and red lights. Round many of these lights they had Japanese lanterns, just to show their good will toward Japan. Some thought this extravagant, but it looked swell.

A great many were invited to this wedding, many more than when they were first married. They also got more presents and better ones. Those who took presents were allowed to come inside the yard, and those who didn't were admitted outside the yard and allowed to look over the fence, just so they didn't touch it. There was a big policeman every twenty feet, perhaps a hundred altogether, on the outside of the yard, to keep the people from soiling the freshly painted fence with their fingers, and there was a soldier with an army rifle every twenty feet on the inside of the fence, walking up and down like they were hunting rabbits. They also had on their best clothes. Their blue suits were trimmed with red braid.

Those who took presents went in carriages and wore the best clothes they could get. The men had on silk hats and swallow tail coats, which are not very expensive, as they can be rented here for a dollar a night. They may not fit exactly, but it doesn't make any difference in a crowd. The ladies were beautifully dressed, most of them, but some, in their hurry to get there, appeared to have forgotten something. But it was warm and didn't matter. There was no danger of catching cold and the men politely overlooked any omissions.

A band in pretty red suits played, and punch and ice cream and cake were served. Mrs. Taft had baked a cake so big it was cut into several thousand pieces, and proved that there is nothing unreasonable in the story of the loaves and fishes. After Mr. and Mrs. Taft had shaken hands with all the guests inside the yard, some of them danced and everybody had a jolly good time.

The majority of us, however, didn't go inside at all. We just walked around outside. We didn't get any cake or punch, but drug store lemonade is cheaper than silverware, and we had a good time anyway. Our sides are a little sore from the elbowing of the fair ones who didn't know just where they were going, but were on their way, and in a great hurry to get there. Our toes have been placed in a plaster cast because a corpulent lady insisted on standing on our corns so she could get a better view over the fence, and it will require some days to heal up the scratches and gouges made by protruding and unfriendly hat pins, but we still have our eyes, and we all had a good time.

DIED AFTER BEING SICK A FEW HOURS

Frank Todd, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Todd, living near Guilford, died Friday morning about 5 o'clock, after being sick only a few hours. On Thursday he had worked all day out in the field, and on returning in the evening, after eating supper, he retired. His usual custom after supper was to read, and when, on retiring, his mother asked him whether he was sick, he replied:

"No, I am just a little tired."

About an hour before he died he screamed, awakening the other members of the family, and told them that he was going to die, and talked with them, being perfectly conscious. He was a strong man, weighing about 200 pounds.

Frank Todd was born near Guilford, July 28, 1880, and had always lived there. He is survived by his parents and one brother, John Todd. The funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at the M. E. church, South, at Guilford, conducted by Rev. S. E. Hoover.

TO MAKE THEM GO JUST JIGGLE THEIR TOES

Two of Maryville's little tots were having lots of fun the other evening catching fire flies. They soon got into a heated argument as to the manner of making the fire end work. One little tot said: "We catch the fire flies and pinch their tails to make 'em go."

"No we don't pinch their tails either," said the other.

"Yes we do, too."

"Well, I don't. I just jiggle their toes."

W. R. REYNOLDS DEAD

FUNERAL SERVICE FIRDAY EVENING AT MITCHELL HOME.

BURIAL IN NEBRASKA

Numerous Descendants Survive Aged Man, Many of Whom Reside Here.

William Riley Reynolds, the aged father of Mrs. David F. Mitchell, living on West Third street, passed away at 4 o'clock Friday morning from the infirmities of old age. Mr. Reynolds seemed as well as he had been for a year past, and Thursday afternoon he spent most of the time sitting in the lawn swing reading his Bible. Later in the evening he seemed weaker than usual, and Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell watched him closely through the night, and he passed away quietly this morning as though going to sleep.

The body will be taken to Tecumseh, Neb., for burial on the early Wabash train Saturday morning. A short funeral service will be held at the Mitchell home Friday evening at 7 o'clock by Dr. J. S. Ford.

Mr. Reynolds was born in Green county, Tenn., October 28, 1824, making him nearly 87 years of age. With his family he moved to Jackson county, Ill., fifty-seven years ago. In 1865 he moved to Newton county, Mo., and in 1874 to Atchison county. In 1879 he moved his family to Tecumseh, Neb., where he lived until seven years ago this June, when he and his wife came to Nodaway county to make their home with their daughter, Mrs. Mitchell, who then lived near Skidmore. Mrs. Reynolds' death occurred the following December.

Mr. Reynolds was married November 2, 1848, to Elizabeth Easterly, a native of Green county, Tenn. He had been a member of the Methodist Episcopal church since boyhood, and until his health failed had been a class leader or Sunday school superintendent through all the years since.

He is survived by five sons and a daughter and twenty-seven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. The children are: Albert N. Reynolds, University place, Lincoln, Neb.; Mrs. David F. Mitchell of Maryville, Phillip L. Reynolds, Tecumseh, Neb.; John H. Reynolds, College place, near Walla Walla, Wash.; William S. Reynolds, Seattle, Wash., and Franklin E. Reynolds of Kansas City.

ALDERMAN RETURNED MUCH IMPROVED

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Alderman returned Friday morning from Excelsior Springs, where Mr. Alderman has been for the past four weeks for the benefit of his health. Mr. Alderman is much improved and will be able to be around in a day or so.

Met Iowa Relatives Here.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Campbell and children, Verna and Dean, of Barnard, and Mrs. Leonard Miller of Graham visited in Maryville Thursday evening at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Alkire. They came to meet their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Freeland and J. W. Dowling and William Dowling and little daughter, Blanche, of Mt. Ayr, Ia., who came to Maryville Thursday in Mr. Freeland's car. The Iowa visitors left for their home Friday morning.

Miss Helen Burris and little sister, Virginia, of near Graham, are weekend guests of her uncle, G. B. Holmes and family.

Dr. McDowell Here.

Dr. Edward T. McDowell of Okmulgee, Okla., arrived in Maryville Friday noon and spent a short time at the home of his mother, Mrs. John W. McDowell of West Twelfth street. He left soon for Burlington Junction, where he was summoned by Mrs. McDowell to the bedside of their little daughter, who is dangerously ill of fever. Mrs. McDowell and children came to Burlington Junction about two weeks ago to visit her mother, Mrs. W. H. Walker. The little girl had been sick about three weeks with malaria and the trip to Missouri was made for her benefit.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. John and daughter came up from Kansas City Thursday night to spend a few days with Rev. and Mrs. C. H. John.

SHUT OUT COMETS

SHENANDOAH WINS EASILY BY A SCORE OF 4 TO 0.

WAS A LISTLESS GAME

Falls City Still Winning—Auburn Takes One From Nebraska City.

The Comets received another coat of whitewash in Thursday's game, Shenandoah wielding the calcimine brush to the tune of 4 to 0. The locals can hardly be blamed for the defeat, as they were unavoidably in poor condition. They left Auburn Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock, arriving in Maryville Thursday noon. Such a trip would put any team on the bum.

Southward was unable to hold the Oaks down, and they bingled out ten safe ones. They were pretty well scattered, nowever, and Maryville's fielding game held them to four runs.

The crowd had as much to do with the defeat as anybody. Imagine a log upon which the bumps are making as much racket as stillness in a desert and you have a good picture of the fans. Rooting has won more than one game, and it will do it again.

Both pitchers were chopping them out at a lively clip, Southward getting the best of it in that phase of the flinging contest, whiffing nine men as against the eight fresh air devotees on the Comet team. Corcoran was two to one to the good on the safeties, being hit only five times to Southward's ten.

The game was slow on the whole, but a few classy plays were put over during the long hour and fifty minutes. Bacom and Black crossed the wires of the Oaks infield for a double steal in the second, taking second and third, but with two down Southward fanned before Bacom could score.

Joe Wintz saved himself of an error in the eighth by recovering a fumble and pegging Castle out at first. It was mighty close and Bacom's reach helped a lot. The completion of the play cut off a score from Shenandoah's tally. A moment later Coppess poled a long three-bagger into the right field ditch. He had passed second when Cook succeeded in getting his mits on the ball. A fast relay from Walsh to Dietz finished the inning, as Coppess tried to make home on his hit. He hit Dietz so hard when he ran into the plate that the Comet catcher was knocked flat on the ground minus two lungfuls of breath.

A single by Ellis, a two-bagger by Atkinson put Shenandoah's first score across in the third. Two more tallies were rung up in the fourth on singles by Wells and Coppess, Denison being hit at the bat, and Ellis' three-bagger. Wells' single and Coppess' three-bagger registered the fourth and last score for the Oaks.

POLITICAL NOTES.

(By the Democratic Publicity Bureau.)

Every Republican politician who drifts into Jefferson City these rare June days gratuitously tell you who the Democrats will nominate for governor and just what element will be sore in consequence, and how the Republicans expect to profit by Democratic dissension. The governor having kindly taken the contract to name the Republican ticket off their hands, the Republican politicians have nothing better to do than frame up the Democratic ticket. Their kindly suggestions as to who would be the strongest Democrat to nominate for governor, and just how the ticket should be framed up is received by Democrats pretty much as was the advice of a card shark by a Louisiana Democrat:

Living on a plantation fifty or sixty miles out of New Orleans is an old poker playing, chicken fighting, horse racing sportsman, who is always willing to gamble on anything and who isn't averse to gamble, even when he has a shade the better of it.

Not long ago a professional gambler came to him and said: "Squire, you know that Phillips man who used to play cards on the river?"

"I do."

"Well, he's showed up here with a lot of money. Now I've got a scheme to get that money."

"Go on; you interest me."

"Well, I'll get him down here and we'll put him into a game of poker—just the two of us and him. Then I'll cold-deck him; you'll get the money and we'll divide."

"How do you propose to do that, son?"

"I'll deal him four queens, and deal you four kings."

"You mean you'll deal him four queens and deal me four kings out of a cold deck?"

"That's it."

"All right, son—all right; but when you are dealin' them four kings to me just deal me one ace also for a sort of confidence card."

While the Republican politicians are dealing us a four-king hand out of the 1912 election deck, they'll oblige us by letting us have one ace from the primary pack as a sort of confidence card.

Calls Her "The Little Colonel."

The recent visit of Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Cast to our city has awakened the fancy of a little Maryville girl, who is just now living and moving and breathing in Annie Fellows Johnston's stories of "The Little Colonel." Tuesday night, while sitting out in the yard waiting for the air to cool sufficient for sleep, she said:

"It is a week tonight since the Little Colonel went home. I wonder if she is in Newport telling her father, Colonel Minor, what a beautiful wedding trip she had, and I wonder if she is saying that her visit to Maryville was one of the "greatest pleasuahs of my life and I shall nevah fo'get it, no mattah how many yeahs I may live," like the real Little Colonel said when Jack took her out duck hunting when she was down in Arizona.

"Well, what is she talking about. She must be asleep and dreaming, and of course she would dream of 'The Little Colonel,' a member of the family said.

"No, I'm not dreaming," said the little girl. "I've been thinking how very much Herschel's wife is like 'The Little Colonel' ever since I saw her at the pipe organ recital by Mr. Quarles at the First M. E. church. They say she is the daughter of a real colonel, and when she came to the concert that night she was so lovely that I knew she was just like 'The Little Colonel' when her knight came riding. I'd given anything to have heard her talk. I hope she talked like 'The Little Colonel,' she is so much like her every other way."

Yes, little girl, she is just as sweet and sensible and charming as Little Colonel, and pronounces her words for all the world like her, for generations of her family have so spoken them before her. Her father, Colonel Lancelot Minor, served in the confederate army under General Robert E. Lee. He was born in Culpepper county, Virginia, of a very old family that had lived there many years. His grandfather was a neighbor and close friend of Thomas Jefferson and Colonel Minor is the proud possessor of several letters written by that eminent statesman to his grandfather, and has the family plate that was used when the great Jefferson dined at Grandfather Minor's.

The military record of the Minor family is more than ordinary, too. Out of thirty-one kinsmen who enlisted—every Minor in Virginia—in the confederate service, twenty-six laid their lives on the altar for their state. Colonel Minor himself was left for dead on a battle field. A Yankee soldier, finding a spark of life in the exhausted body, covered the wound with a five-dollar gold piece and a note, saying:

"This coin is to take this soldier to his mother."

The money was used for that purpose, and the soldier in gray recovered because of the kindness of the soldier in blue. Colonel Minor has searched for years for his rescuer, but in vain, so far. He went to Arkansas after the war and has been a prominent factor in that state's development and eminently successful as a lawyer. He is ranking commander of the Confederate Veterans' association. He married Miss Minnie Ferguson of Newport, and his daughter, Minnie Ferguson Minor, married Herschel Cast.

So you see, little girl, you have all the material you need to weave a wonderful story of history, war and romance, beginning in fine old Virginia and ending in Arkansas, that will require a sterling young Yankee from Maryville, Missouri, who is now a banker at Swifton, Ark., to give it the right finish.

In answer to a question, your Little Colonel said, while she was here a week ago:

"Yes, I look like my fathah, and am like him a good deal when I'm in suah earnest about anything, but you ought to see my little brothah; he's a perfect dahling, and a regulah little cuhnel. He said to me, 'I don't see how you can marry a Yankee, sistah, after all ouh fam'ly done for the south.' But he is little, you know, and of co'se cannot unde'stand."

Don't that sound like "The Little Colonel," little girl?

Nusbaum-Samuels Nuptials.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Nusbaum returned Friday noon from Topeka, Kan., where they attended, on Wednesday evening, the marriage of their son, Arthur Nusbaum, and Miss Odes Samuels. The Topeka State Daily Journal of Thursday contained the following account of the wedding:

Miss Odes Samuel and Mr. Arthur Nusbaum were married Wednesday evening at 5:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Samuel, by Dr. Bernstein of St. Joseph. Miss Edith Hossfeld played the Lohengrin wedding march, and Mrs. Orville O. Moore sang before the ceremony, "Because I Love You." Hall's orchestra played during the service, which was performed before a bank of palms in the parlor. The colors of the decorations were pink and white. The stairway was twined with roses and smilax, and bouquets of roses and lilies of the valley were used in the parlor. The dining table was decorated with a centerpiece of roses and lilies, and bows of pink ribbon were used at the corners of the table. The bride's gown was white liberty satin, made with a court train, low neck and short sleeves. The short bodice was draped with a wide band of Venetian lace, which was extended on one side the full length of the skirt. She carried a wreath of roses and lilies, and her long white veil was caught in the hair with a wreath of lilies of the valley. Her maid of honor was Miss Harriet Press of Sedalia, Mo. Her gown was white marquisette, trimmed in wide lace and band of pink, made over pink messaline. She carried a bouquet of pink Killarney roses. Mr. Nusbaum's best man was Mr. Roy Pepperberg of Lincoln, Neb.

After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served, and later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Nusbaum left for a wedding trip to Mackinac, Baltimore and Washington. They will be away a month, and after their return will be at home at 617 Harrison street.

Out of town guests to the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. M. Nusbaum of Maryville, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. A. Swike of Plattsburg, Mr. and Mrs. S. Friedman, Miss Lillian Friedman and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Greenwald of Evansville, Ind.; Miss Jennet Daniel of Kansas City, Miss Harriet Press of Sedalia, Mr. and Mrs. Rop Pepperberg of Lincoln, Neb.

A NEW CAPITOL WILL BOOM IMMIGRATION.

During the last decade Missouri did not make the gain in population that she should, and Texas passed her in the rank of states. The people must get into the immigration game during the next ten years and regain this lost ground. A good way to begin is to advertise to the world the fact that we are a wide-awake, progressive people by carrying the proposition for a new capitol building on August 1st. It's a pivotal time with Missouri, a crisis in which we must forge ahead or fall back. The enthusiasm following a successful campaign for a new capitol would give a great impetus to the band wagon of progress and send Missouri rolling on towards the head of the column, while the defeat of the proposition would fall as a wet blanket of discouragement upon the hopes of Missourians, and turn the tide of immigration from our doors. We must have a new capitol; we need it now; the three and one-half million dollar proposition is a most reasonable one; to carry it by a rousing two-thirds majority would be worth much to the state at this critical time; why not give Missouri the prestige of such a splendid victory for progress and enterprise?

LESSONS IN PATRIOTISM.

The Missourian who hasn't enough pride to want a part in the building of the new capitol for the state he loves, should take a few lessons in patriotism and cultivate a spirit of appreciation for the civilization he enjoys.

KING GEORGE IS CROWNED

Eighth of House of Hanover Consecrates Life to Country.

ANCIENT CEREMONY IS USED.

Service Is Like All Previous Events for Twelve Hundred Years—Crown Is Placed Upon King's Head by Archbishop of Canterbury.

London, June 23.—King George V., eighth of the house of Hanover, was consecrated to the service of the British empire and in turn received the public homage of his world-wide subjects.

With his consort, Queen Mary, his majesty was crowned in the abbey of Westminster with all the wealth and religious rites and royal ceremonial prescribed by historic custom.

The picture within the gray walled abbey was one of medieval splendor. The coronation services, solemn and imposing, were those handed down from the earlier centuries and the actors in the principal and secondary roles of the great function were garbed in reproductions of the multi-colored, gold embroidered trappings worn by their ancestors. The latter made a wonderfully effective setting around the central figures.

Multitude Sees Pageant.

Outside the usually dull streets had been transformed into a mass of color. The king and queen's progress to the abbey and the return to Buckingham palace was one unbroken ovation. The route was hedged with a vast polyglot host with a background of decorated viewing stands and windows and roofs, all of which were crammed to their capacity.

Hundreds of thousands of spectators shouted themselves hoarse at central points like the Mall and the entrance to the admiralty, where the government stands held a score of thousands. Trafalgar square was so densely packed with humanity that it would not have been difficult to traverse the square walking on the heads of the people. Parliament square and Constitution hill held their countless thousands.

The tumult of thunderous welcome was almost deafening as the king and queen passed on the outward and home journeys, preceded in the first instance and followed on the return by a stately, superb cavalcade of eminent persons, many themselves heirs to thrones, statesmen, diplomats, courtiers, soldiers, sailors and men of all hues, races and creeds from the four quarters of the globe.

The great ceremonial passed off unmarred by untoward incidents.

Coronation Oath.

The Archbishop of Canterbury administered the coronation oath, saying: "Will you solemnly promise and swear to govern the people of this United Kingdom and the dominions thereof according to the statutes in parliament agreed on and the respective laws and customs of the same?"

The king: "I solemnly promise so to do."

The crown placed on King George's head was of solid gold studded with precious stones of inestimable value, including 3,000 diamonds, 300 pearls and hundreds of rubies, emeralds and sapphires. The queen's crown contained the famous Koh-i-Noor diamond, with its legend of bringing good luck.

Over forty members of royal families, 250 rulers of foreign states, 1,450 ears, dukes, lords and ladies, 300 ambassadors and ministers; 1,500 representatives of the army, navy, judiciary, clergy, etc., formed part of the 7,000 guests at Westminster abbey.

America was represented at the coronation by the American ambassador, Whitelaw Reid; the American special envoy, John Hays Hammond; many Americen wives of English peers, members of the American diplomatic corps and many unofficial Americans, including Charles P. Taft, brother of President Taft.

G. W. HINMAN IS FIRST WITNESS

Chicago Publisher Testifies in Lorimer Investigation.

CLOSE FRIEND OF DEFENDANT.

Proprietor of Inter-Ocean Says There Has Been a "Jackpot" at Every Session of Illinois Legislature for Years. Ex-Governor Yates Testifies.

Washington, June 23.—George W. Hinman, editor and publisher of the Chicago Inter-Ocean, was the first witness at the regular session of the senate committee to investigate the election of Senator Lorimer.

To Attorney Marble's questions Mr. Hinman said he was a close friend to Senator Lorimer, but had received no money to be used in his election.

The witness was questioned at length in regard to the "jockpot" funds of the Illinois legislature. Mr. Hinman said he had never talked with anyone who said he contributed to a "jackpot," operated one or received money from one.

"But I believe there has been a 'jackpot' in every legislature of Illinois since I went there, twelve years ago," he added.

The attorney read editorials from the Inter-Ocean, in which the suggestion was made that prominent persons in Chicago and in Peoria "might be shaken by an investigation into Illinois legislature jackpots."

"To whom did you refer?" Mr. Marble asked.

"The liquor interest."

"Did common report connect any other interests with a jackpot?"

Money Interests Against.

"Not that I recall," the witness said, adding that the money interests of Chicago had taken sides against Senator Lorimer.

"Do you mean to say that prominent persons of Chicago, who looked upon themselves as better than Senator Lorimer, did the very things he is criticized for doing?" asked Kern.

"That puts it better than I could express it."

The editor was asked if the packing house interests were opposed to Lorimer.

"I would not say that they were particularly friendly," was the reply.

The witness declined at first to answer if he had borrowed money from either Hines, Tilden or Lorimer, because it was a question concerning his private business.

"Oh, well, I will answer under protest," he said, after thinking it over. "On one occasion I borrowed $4,000 from Mr. Hines."

"When?"

"Within the last eight or ten weeks."

After declaring again that he had never paid or received money to aid in Lorimer's election, Mr. Hinman was excused.

Yates Is Second Witness.

Richard Yates, governor of Illinois from 1901 to 1905, was the next witness.

"Did you ever hear of a jackpot when you were governor?" asked Mr. Healy.

"No, sir."

He then told the story of the passage of the "Mueller bill providing for municipal ownership of street railways." He related how, when governor, Speaker Mueller came to him with an account of two men attempting to bribe him to aid in the passage of the bill and how the bill was passed.

"Mr. Mueller died shortly afterward, because the house, instead of investigating the alleged bribery, investigated him, his friends told me," said Mr. Yates.

Mr. Yates said he believed men had approached Mueller. He also said John L. Lane, a Chicago Inter-Ocean reporter, told him in 1901 that a corruption fund existed in the legislature, but Lane could produce no witnesses, and the subject was not made a matter of formal investigation.

These were the only rumors of corruption, he said, that he was able to tell about.

Will Irwin of Maryville spent Sunday evening with his brother George and family.

Next Saturday and Sunday will be the third quarterly meeting of the Barnard charge to be held at Mt. Ayr. Preaching Saturday night and Sunday morning and night, with a basket dinner Sunday on the lawn of John Anderson, one-half mile north of the church.

Quite a number from this community attended the home coming at Harmony church last Sunday, and all reported a fine time.

THOUGHTS ON MARRIAGE.

Out here, where quick divorces
Are served with dinner courses,
A woman learns to train a man as she would have him be;
Or else she seeks the nearest court
For separation and support,
And marriage license coupons are attached to each decree.

Somehow there doesn't seem to be any "heart interest" in that sort of a love song. Let us turn to the pathetic poem of painful parting. Of course the setting and sentiment of most of them are wholly obsolete. The modern parting from a ladylove is frequently followed by a separation from a large lump of collateral as a balm for wounded affections. Why not recognize the matrimonial incompatibility of the high-flier and the joy rider in appropriate verse?

Free Sample For Baby's Ills

Something can and must be done for the puny, crying baby, for the child that refuses to eat and is restless in its sleep. And since the basis of all health is the proper working of the digestive organs, look first to the condition of the stomach and bowels.

A child should have two full and free movements of the bowels a day. This emptying of the bowels is very important, as with it comes a clear head, a lightness of step, good appetite and sound sleep. But it is equally important to know what to give the child in the emergency of constipation and indigestion. Cathartics are too strong and salts and other purgatives are not only too strong, but the child refuses them because of their bad taste. Have you ever tried Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin? It is a liquid tonic that families have been using for a quarter of a century. It is mild, pleasant-tasting and promptly effective. It is good for you as well as the child, but there is nothing better to be found for children. They like its taste—you will not have to force them to take it.

First of all, if you have not yet used it, Dr. Caldwell would like to send you a sample bottle free of charge. In this way you can try it before buying. Later, when convinced of its merits, you can get it of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, just as thousands of other families are doing. The family of Mr. D. W. Spangler of Strattonville, Pa., as well as that of Mr. A. F. Johnson of Walnut Grove, Tenn., started with it in that way and now write that it is their one family necessity next to food itself. If you are unfortunate enough to have a sickly child, one given to constipation and indigestion, you should send for a free sample of this remedy.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, R.509 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

MEN OLD AT 35.

One Million Baldheads Who Thought Dandruff Wasn't Dangerous.

In the United States and Canada today there are nearly a million men who at 35 can be put in the baldhead class.

When these men had thick, vigorous hair, dandruff made its appearance.

That was the time to attack the enemy of mankind—the persistent little devil called a dandruff microbe, or germ that burrows deep down into the hair root and saps it of the vitality that is so essential to the hair.

Young men or any man, for that matter, beware of the dandruff germ; it is not a theory, but an actual condition that confronts you. That dandruff is caused by a germ is proven beyond question. That a germ destroys the hair root is today a matter of common knowledge.

The Koch Pharmacy has the remedy that kills the dandruff germs. They guarantee it to eradicate dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp in two weeks or money back. It is called Parisian Sage and can be obtained at druggists in every town in America—ask them for it. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every bottle of Parisian Sage.

FIFTEEN MILLION IN SUNDAY SCHOOLS

Secretary Lawrence Makes Report to Convention.

San Francisco, June 23.—There are now 14,946,504 Sunday school pupils in this country, according to the report of General Secretary Marien Lawrence, read in the International Sunday School convention here. This, said the secretary, means a gain of 1,431,006 pupils since the last convention three years ago. Since the last meeting at Louisville conversions have been made at the rate of over 1,000 a day. Secretary Lawrence thinks the schools are now ready for a "systematic in-gathering" and recommends energies toward increasing the enrollment.

New Deputy Treasurer.

Lincoln, June 23.—State Treasurer W. A. George announced that he had appointed O. A. Danielson of Center, Knox county, as deputy state treasurer to succeed E. S. Mickey, who resigned some time ago. Mr. Danielson will assume the duties of the office on July 1.

WOOL BILL UP TO THE SENATE

Finance Committee Makes Adverse Report on Measure.

MEANS LONG FIGHT ON FLOOR.

Republican Leaders Place Responsibility on Insurgents and Democrats. Number of Other Bills to Be Introduced in Upper House.

Washington, June 23.—An already badly tangled situation in the senate was still further complicated when the senate finance committee decided to throw the woolen revision and the so-called farmers' free list bills, recently passed by the Democratic house, into the open senate at once to take their chances along with Canadian reciprocity. Both measures, however, received formal adverse committee reports.

The committee refused to take responsibility for reporting in detail on these measures at any time and decided to cast the burden of senate legislation on the coalition of Democrats and insurgent Republicans suddenly brought about when the wool bill came from the house. The finance committee had been instructed to report the wool bill by July 10. It was reported that Senator Clapp proposed to offer a resolution of instruction as to the free list bill, but the committee forestalled such action.

"It has been demonstrated that the Republicans no longer are in control of the senate and responsibility has been taken from them." This statement from Senator Penrose (Pa.), chairman of the once all powerful committee on finance, reflected the chaotic conditions in the senate as a result of the fight over the house wool bill, which brought about a coalition of Democrats and progressive Republicans.

Interest in the senate situation centers largely about the fate of the Canadian reciprocity agreement.

Indorsing Senator Penrose's statement that the Republican party no longer was responsible for the conduct of affairs in the senate, Senator Lodge said he was glad the responsibility was to be placed where it belonged.

All guesses as to the possible date of adjournment, it is now admitted, are worse than useless.

Senators McCumber, Gallinger and Smoot were among the Republicans who counselled deliberation in the committee.

Insurgents Ready for Fight.

"The insurgents are ready for the fight," said Senator Bristow, who stood outside of the finance committee rooms while the committee was in session. "We are ready with revision bills. Senator La Follette has woolens and cottons, Senator Cummins has steel, and I am ready with sugar and lead. These bills take, off duties which admittedly are excessive on trust-controlled products.

"Now the question is what will the president do? If he is wise, he will accept our bills as amendments to the reciprocity measure. We can go before the country on this proposition and fight it out."

Regardless of the action taken by the finance committee, the real struggle will be over amending the reciprocity measure, and control is conceded to be in the hands of the Democrats. The question with them is whether the adoption of amendments which will revise other schedules will draw a veto of the reciprocity bill by President Taft. Democratic leaders in the senate have taken the position that they should not vote for amendments that would kill the reciprocity measure.

GRANDMOTHERS' BEAUTIFUL HAIR

Color and Beauty of the Hair Preserved with a Harmless Remedy Made from Sage.

Druggists everywhere comment on the fact that they are selling large quantities of sage for making old-fashioned "sage tea," such as was used by our grandmothers for promoting the growth of their hair, making it fluffy and beautiful and restoring its natural color.

The demand for this well-known herb for this purpose has been so great that one manufacturer has taken advantage of the fact and has placed on the market an ideal "sage tea," containing sulphur, a valuable remedy for dandruff and scalp rashes and irritations, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy.

The manufacturers of this remedy authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

A WESTERN MAN'S VIEW OF AN EASTERN FUNCTION.

HOUSE WAS "ALL LIT UP"

An Explanation of Why Mr. Taft Doesn't Raise Garden "Sass" in Place of Roses.

By VAN CLEVE.

Washington, D. C., June 20.—A society note: Mr. and Mrs. William H. Taft, two very respectable and well liked residents of this city, celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary Monday evening. The affair, which is rated as the most brilliant of the season's social events, was held at their cozy residence on Pennsylvania avenue northwest.

Their comfortable little home is one of the prettiest in that section of the city and always looks fresh and clean and cheerful, being painted snow white. This the friends of these good people say is in harmony with the purity of the life and thoughts of its humble occupants. This, too, is one of the very few homes in this city that is accompanied with ample and spacious lawns, and the grounds about this home indicate that Mr. Taft is a man of good taste and has considerable pride in his surroundings. He keeps the grass carefully mowed and the many shade trees are frequently topped and he never allows a loose panel to fall from the yard fence. Mrs. Taft is also a lady of artistic taste, and she has planted a good many flowers here and there about the premises, which are quite ornamental, such as holly hocks, peonas, sweet peas and lilac bushes. There are also several rose bushes. They give their attention largely to these efforts to make the premises neat and attractive rather than to attempt to raise much garden. The vegetable hucksters here are very reasonable, and as Mr. Taft and his wife have a good deal of company, they do not have much time to hoe potatoes or stick the peas.

While this worthy couple is somewhat past the meridian of life they are quite progressive and up-to-date, and have their house liberally lighted with electricity. On this particular occasion they not only had all the house lights burning at once, but they had a lot of them put out in the yard among the trees and around the outlines of the house, so that the crowd of guests could have more room and keep cool and get around in the dark corners for little tete-a-tetes like the young folks do at parties in Maryville. They even had an American flag on the side of the house made of electric bulbs, and which was kept waving by moving rows of white and red lights. Round many of these lights they had Japanese lanterns, just to show their good will toward Japan. Some thought this extravagant, but it looked swell.

A great many were invited to this wedding, many more than when they were first married. They also got more presents and better ones. Those who took presents were allowed to come inside the yard, and those who didn't were admitted outside the yard and allowed to look over the fence, just so they didn't touch it. There was a big policeman every twenty feet, perhaps a hundred altogether, on the outside of the yard, to keep the people from soiling the freshly painted fence with their fingers, and there was a soldier with an army rifle every twenty feet on the inside of the fence, walking up and down like they were hunting rabbits. They also had on their best clothes. Their blue suits were trimmed with red braid.

Those who took presents went in carriages and wore the best clothes they could get. The men had on silk hats and swallow tail coats, which are not very expensive, as they can be rented here for a dollar a night. They may not fit exactly, but it doesn't make any difference in a crowd. The ladies were beautifully dressed, most of them, but some, in their hurry to get there, appeared to have forgotten something. But it was warm and didn't matter. There was no danger of catching cold and the men politely overlooked any omissions.

A band in pretty red suits played, and punch and ice cream and cake were served. Mrs. Taft had baked a cake so big it was cut into several thousand pieces, and proved that there is nothing unreasonable in the story of the loaves and fishes. After Mr. and Mrs. Taft had shaken hands with all the guests inside the yard, some of them danced and everybody had a jolly good time.

The majority of us, however, didn't go inside at all. We just walked around outside. We didn't get any cake or punch, but drug store lemonade is cheaper than silverware, and we had a good time anyway. Our sides are a little sore from the elbowing of the fair ones who didn't know just where they were going, but were on their way, and in a great hurry to get there. Our toes have been placed in a plaster cast because a corpulent lady insisted on standing on our corns so she could get a better view over the fence, and it will require some days to heal up the scratches and gouges made by protruding and unfriendly hat pins, but we still have our eyes, and we all had a good time.

DIED AFTER BEING SICK A FEW HOURS

Frank Todd, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Todd, living near Guilford, died Friday morning about 5 o'clock, after being sick only a few hours. On Thursday he had worked all day out in the field, and on returning in the evening, after eating supper, he retired. His usual custom after supper was to read, and when, on retiring, his mother asked him whether he was sick, he replied:

"No, I am just a little tired."

About an hour before he died he screamed, awakening the other members of the family, and told them that he was going to die, and talked with them, being perfectly conscious. He was a strong man, weighing about 200 pounds.

Frank Todd was born near Guilford, July 28, 1880, and had always lived there. He is survived by his parents and one brother, John Todd. The funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at the M. E. church, South, at Guilford, conducted by Rev. S. E. Hoover.

TO MAKE THEM GO JUST JIGGLE THEIR TOES

Two of Maryville's little tots were having lots of fun the other evening catching fire flies. They soon got into a heated argument as to the manner of making the fire end work. One little tot said: "We catch the fire flies and pinch their tails to make 'em go."

"No we don't pinch their tails either," said the other.

"Yes we do, too."

"Well, I don't. I just jiggle their toes."

W. R. REYNOLDS DEAD

FUNERAL SERVICE FIRDAY EVENING AT MITCHELL HOME.

BURIAL IN NEBRASKA

Numerous Descendants Survive Aged Man, Many of Whom Reside Here.

William Riley Reynolds, the aged father of Mrs. David F. Mitchell, living on West Third street, passed away at 4 o'clock Friday morning from the infirmities of old age. Mr. Reynolds seemed as well as he had been for a year past, and Thursday afternoon he spent most of the time sitting in the lawn swing reading his Bible. Later in the evening he seemed weaker than usual, and Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell watched him closely through the night, and he passed away quietly this morning as though going to sleep.

The body will be taken to Tecumseh, Neb., for burial on the early Wabash train Saturday morning. A short funeral service will be held at the Mitchell home Friday evening at 7 o'clock by Dr. J. S. Ford.

Mr. Reynolds was born in Green county, Tenn., October 28, 1824, making him nearly 87 years of age. With his family he moved to Jackson county, Ill., fifty-seven years ago. In 1865 he moved to Newton county, Mo., and in 1874 to Atchison county. In 1879 he moved his family to Tecumseh, Neb., where he lived until seven years ago this June, when he and his wife came to Nodaway county to make their home with their daughter, Mrs. Mitchell, who then lived near Skidmore. Mrs. Reynolds' death occurred the following December.

Mr. Reynolds was married November 2, 1848, to Elizabeth Easterly, a native of Green county, Tenn. He had been a member of the Methodist Episcopal church since boyhood, and until his health failed had been a class leader or Sunday school superintendent through all the years since.

He is survived by five sons and a daughter and twenty-seven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. The children are: Albert N. Reynolds, University place, Lincoln, Neb.; Mrs. David F. Mitchell of Maryville, Phillip L. Reynolds, Tecumseh, Neb.; John H. Reynolds, College place, near Walla Walla, Wash.; William S. Reynolds, Seattle, Wash., and Franklin E. Reynolds of Kansas City.

ALDERMAN RETURNED MUCH IMPROVED

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Alderman returned Friday morning from Excelsior Springs, where Mr. Alderman has been for the past four weeks for the benefit of his health. Mr. Alderman is much improved and will be able to be around in a day or so.

Met Iowa Relatives Here.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Campbell and children, Verna and Dean, of Barnard, and Mrs. Leonard Miller of Graham visited in Maryville Thursday evening at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Alkire. They came to meet their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Freeland and J. W. Dowling and William Dowling and little daughter, Blanche, of Mt. Ayr, Ia., who came to Maryville Thursday in Mr. Freeland's car. The Iowa visitors left for their home Friday morning.

Miss Helen Burris and little sister, Virginia, of near Graham, are weekend guests of her uncle, G. B. Holmes and family.

Dr. McDowell Here.

Dr. Edward T. McDowell of Okmulgee, Okla., arrived in Maryville Friday noon and spent a short time at the home of his mother, Mrs. John W. McDowell of West Twelfth street. He left soon for Burlington Junction, where he was summoned by Mrs. McDowell to the bedside of their little daughter, who is dangerously ill of fever. Mrs. McDowell and children came to Burlington Junction about two weeks ago to visit her mother, Mrs. W. H. Walker. The little girl had been sick about three weeks with malaria and the trip to Missouri was made for her benefit.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. John and daughter came up from Kansas City Thursday night to spend a few days with Rev. and Mrs. C. H. John.

SHUT OUT COMETS

SHENANDOAH WINS EASILY BY A SCORE OF 4 TO 0.

WAS A LISTLESS GAME

Falls City Still Winning—Auburn Takes One From Nebraska City.

The Comets received another coat of whitewash in Thursday's game, Shenandoah wielding the calcimine brush to the tune of 4 to 0. The locals can hardly be blamed for the defeat, as they were unavoidably in poor condition. They left Auburn Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock, arriving in Maryville Thursday noon. Such a trip would put any team on the bum.

Southward was unable to hold the Oaks down, and they bingled out ten safe ones. They were pretty well scattered, nowever, and Maryville's fielding game held them to four runs.

The crowd had as much to do with the defeat as anybody. Imagine a log upon which the bumps are making as much racket as stillness in a desert and you have a good picture of the fans. Rooting has won more than one game, and it will do it again.

Both pitchers were chopping them out at a lively clip, Southward getting the best of it in that phase of the flinging contest, whiffing nine men as against the eight fresh air devotees on the Comet team. Corcoran was two to one to the good on the safeties, being hit only five times to Southward's ten.

The game was slow on the whole, but a few classy plays were put over during the long hour and fifty minutes. Bacom and Black crossed the wires of the Oaks infield for a double steal in the second, taking second and third, but with two down Southward fanned before Bacom could score.

Joe Wintz saved himself of an error in the eighth by recovering a fumble and pegging Castle out at first. It was mighty close and Bacom's reach helped a lot. The completion of the play cut off a score from Shenandoah's tally. A moment later Coppess poled a long three-bagger into the right field ditch. He had passed second when Cook succeeded in getting his mits on the ball. A fast relay from Walsh to Dietz finished the inning, as Coppess tried to make home on his hit. He hit Dietz so hard when he ran into the plate that the Comet catcher was knocked flat on the ground minus two lungfuls of breath.

A single by Ellis, a two-bagger by Atkinson put Shenandoah's first score across in the third. Two more tallies were rung up in the fourth on singles by Wells and Coppess, Denison being hit at the bat, and Ellis' three-bagger. Wells' single and Coppess' three-bagger registered the fourth and last score for the Oaks.

BILL OF EXCEPTIONS SIGNED UP BY JUDGE

The bill of exceptions in the Rasco case was signed Friday morning by Judge W. C. Ellison. Prosecuting Attorney Wright refused to sign them, giving as his reason that there was no applause after the speech of M. E. The transcript of record with the bill of exceptions and the exhibits as used in the case, will be sent to the supreme court at Jefferson City within the next few weeks.

Later her sister, Miss Sebee Rowley, underwent a surgical operation at St. Francis hospital for appendicitis, both of whom she cared for, and they are now fully recovered.

POLITICAL NOTES.

(By the Democratic Publicity Bureau.)

Every Republican politician who drifts into Jefferson City these rare June days gratuitously tell you who the Democrats will nominate for governor and just what element will be sore in consequence, and how the Republicans expect to profit by Democratic dissension. The governor having kindly taken the contract to name the Republican ticket off their hands, the Republican politicians have nothing better to do than frame up the Democratic ticket. Their kindly suggestions as to who would be the strongest Democrat to nominate for governor, and just how the ticket should be framed up is received by Democrats pretty much as was the advice of a card shark by a Louisiana Democrat:

Living on a plantation fifty or sixty miles out of New Orleans is an old poker playing, chicken fighting, horse racing sportsman, who is always willing to gamble on anything and who isn't averse to gamble, even when he has a shade the better of it.

Not long ago a professional gambler came to him and said: "Squire, you know that Phillips man who used to play cards on the river?"

"I do."

"Well, he's showed up here with a lot of money. Now I've got a scheme to get that money."

"Go on; you interest me."

"Well, I'll get him down here and we'll put him into a game of poker—just the two of us and him. Then I'll cold-deck him; you'll get the money and we'll divide."

"How do you propose to do that, son?"

"I'll deal him four queens, and deal you four kings."

"You mean you'll deal him four queens and deal me four kings out of a cold deck?"

"That's it."

"All right, son—all right; but when you are dealin' them four kings to me just deal me one ace also for a sort of confidence card."

While the Republican politicians are dealing us a four-king hand out of the 1912 election deck, they'll oblige us by letting us have one ace from the primary pack as a sort of confidence card.

Calls Her "The Little Colonel."

The recent visit of Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Cast to our city has awakened the fancy of a little Maryville girl, who is just now living and moving and breathing in Annie Fellows Johnston's stories of "The Little Colonel." Tuesday night, while sitting out in the yard waiting for the air to cool sufficient for sleep, she said:

"It is a week tonight since the Little Colonel went home. I wonder if she is in Newport telling her father, Colonel Minor, what a beautiful wedding trip she had, and I wonder if she is saying that her visit to Maryville was one of the "greatest pleasuahs of my life and I shall nevah fo'get it, no mattah how many yeahs I may live," like the real Little Colonel said when Jack took her out duck hunting when she was down in Arizona.

"Well, what is she talking about. She must be asleep and dreaming, and of course she would dream of 'The Little Colonel,' a member of the family said.

"No, I'm not dreaming," said the little girl. "I've been thinking how very much Herschel's wife is like 'The Little Colonel' ever since I saw her at the pipe organ recital by Mr. Quarles at the First M. E. church. They say she is the daughter of a real colonel, and when she came to the concert that night she was so lovely that I knew she was just like 'The Little Colonel' when her knight came riding. I'd given anything to have heard her talk. I hope she talked like 'The Little Colonel,' she is so much like her every other way."

Yes, little girl, she is just as sweet and sensible and charming as Little Colonel, and pronounces her words for all the world like her, for generations of her family have so spoken them before her. Her father, Colonel Lancelot Minor, served in the confederate army under General Robert E. Lee. He was born in Culpepper county, Virginia, of a very old family that had lived there many years. His grandfather was a neighbor and close friend of Thomas Jefferson and Colonel Minor is the proud possessor of several letters written by that eminent statesman to his grandfather, and has the family plate that was used when the great Jefferson dined at Grandfather Minor's.

The military record of the Minor family is more than ordinary, too. Out of thirty-one kinsmen who enlisted—every Minor in Virginia—in the confederate service, twenty-six laid their lives on the altar for their state. Colonel Minor himself was left for dead on a battle field. A Yankee soldier, finding a spark of life in the exhausted body, covered the wound with a five-dollar gold piece and a note, saying:

"This coin is to take this soldier to his mother."

The money was used for that purpose, and the soldier in gray recovered because of the kindness of the soldier in blue. Colonel Minor has searched for years for his rescuer, but in vain, so far. He went to Arkansas after the war and has been a prominent factor in that state's development and eminently successful as a lawyer. He is ranking commander of the Confederate Veterans' association. He married Miss Minnie Ferguson of Newport, and his daughter, Minnie Ferguson Minor, married Herschel Cast.

So you see, little girl, you have all the material you need to weave a wonderful story of history, war and romance, beginning in fine old Virginia and ending in Arkansas, that will require a sterling young Yankee from Maryville, Missouri, who is now a banker at Swifton, Ark., to give it the right finish.

In answer to a question, your Little Colonel said, while she was here a week ago:

"Yes, I look like my fathah, and am like him a good deal when I'm in suah earnest about anything, but you ought to see my little brothah; he's a perfect dahling, and a regulah little cuhnel. He said to me, 'I don't see how you can marry a Yankee, sistah, after all ouh fam'ly done for the south.' But he is little, you know, and of co'se cannot unde'stand."

Don't that sound like "The Little Colonel," little girl?

Nusbaum-Samuels Nuptials.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Nusbaum returned Friday noon from Topeka, Kan., where they attended, on Wednesday evening, the marriage of their son, Arthur Nusbaum, and Miss Odes Samuels. The Topeka State Daily Journal of Thursday contained the following account of the wedding:

Miss Odes Samuel and Mr. Arthur Nusbaum were married Wednesday evening at 5:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Samuel, by Dr. Bernstein of St. Joseph. Miss Edith Hossfeld played the Lohengrin wedding march, and Mrs. Orville O. Moore sang before the ceremony, "Because I Love You." Hall's orchestra played during the service, which was performed before a bank of palms in the parlor. The colors of the decorations were pink and white. The stairway was twined with roses and smilax, and bouquets of roses and lilies of the valley were used in the parlor. The dining table was decorated with a centerpiece of roses and lilies, and bows of pink ribbon were used at the corners of the table. The bride's gown was white liberty satin, made with a court train, low neck and short sleeves. The short bodice was draped with a wide band of Venetian lace, which was extended on one side the full length of the skirt. She carried a wreath of roses and lilies, and her long white veil was caught in the hair with a wreath of lilies of the valley. Her maid of honor was Miss Harriet Press of Sedalia, Mo. Her gown was white marquisette, trimmed in wide lace and band of pink, made over pink messaline. She carried a bouquet of pink Killarney roses. Mr. Nusbaum's best man was Mr. Roy Pepperberg of Lincoln, Neb.

After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served, and later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Nusbaum left for a wedding trip to Mackinac, Baltimore and Washington. They will be away a month, and after their return will be at home at 617 Harrison street.

Out of town guests to the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. M. Nusbaum of Maryville, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. A. Swike of Plattsburg, Mr. and Mrs. S. Friedman, Miss Lillian Friedman and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Greenwald of Evansville, Ind.; Miss Jennet Daniel of Kansas City, Miss Harriet Press of Sedalia, Mr. and Mrs. Rop Pepperberg of Lincoln, Neb.

A NEW CAPITOL WILL BOOM IMMIGRATION.

During the last decade Missouri did not make the gain in population that she should, and Texas passed her in the rank of states. The people must get into the immigration game during the next ten years and regain this lost ground. A good way to begin is to advertise to the world the fact that we are a wide-awake, progressive people by carrying the proposition for a new capitol building on August 1st. It's a pivotal time with Missouri, a crisis in which we must forge ahead or fall back. The enthusiasm following a successful campaign for a new capitol would give a great impetus to the band wagon of progress and send Missouri rolling on towards the head of the column, while the defeat of the proposition would fall as a wet blanket of discouragement upon the hopes of Missourians, and turn the tide of immigration from our doors. We must have a new capitol; we need it now; the three and one-half million dollar proposition is a most reasonable one; to carry it by a rousing two-thirds majority would be worth much to the state at this critical time; why not give Missouri the prestige of such a splendid victory for progress and enterprise?

LESSONS IN PATRIOTISM.

The Missourian who hasn't enough pride to want a part in the building of the new capitol for the state he loves, should take a few lessons in patriotism and cultivate a spirit of appreciation for the civilization he enjoys.

KING GEORGE IS CROWNED

Eighth of House of Hanover Consecrates Life to Country.

ANCIENT CEREMONY IS USED.

Service Is Like All Previous Events for Twelve Hundred Years—Crown Is Placed Upon King's Head by Archbishop of Canterbury.

London, June 23.—King George V., eighth of the house of Hanover, was consecrated to the service of the British empire and in turn received the public homage of his world-wide subjects.

With his consort, Queen Mary, his majesty was crowned in the abbey of Westminster with all the wealth and religious rites and royal ceremonial prescribed by historic custom.

The picture within the gray walled abbey was one of medieval splendor. The coronation services, solemn and imposing, were those handed down from the earlier centuries and the actors in the principal and secondary roles of the great function were garbed in reproductions of the multi-colored, gold embroidered trappings worn by their ancestors. The latter made a wonderfully effective setting around the central figures.

Multitude Sees Pageant.

Outside the usually dull streets had been transformed into a mass of color. The king and queen's progress to the abbey and the return to Buckingham palace was one unbroken ovation. The route was hedged with a vast polyglot host with a background of decorated viewing stands and windows and roofs, all of which were crammed to their capacity.

Hundreds of thousands of spectators shouted themselves hoarse at central points like the Mall and the entrance to the admiralty, where the government stands held a score of thousands. Trafalgar square was so densely packed with humanity that it would not have been difficult to traverse the square walking on the heads of the people. Parliament square and Constitution hill held their countless thousands.

The tumult of thunderous welcome was almost deafening as the king and queen passed on the outward and home journeys, preceded in the first instance and followed on the return by a stately, superb cavalcade of eminent persons, many themselves heirs to thrones, statesmen, diplomats, courtiers, soldiers, sailors and men of all hues, races and creeds from the four quarters of the globe.

The great ceremonial passed off unmarred by untoward incidents.

Coronation Oath.

The Archbishop of Canterbury administered the coronation oath, saying: "Will you solemnly promise and swear to govern the people of this United Kingdom and the dominions thereof according to the statutes in parliament agreed on and the respective laws and customs of the same?"

The king: "I solemnly promise so to do."

The crown placed on King George's head was of solid gold studded with precious stones of inestimable value, including 3,000 diamonds, 300 pearls and hundreds of rubies, emeralds and sapphires. The queen's crown contained the famous Koh-i-Noor diamond, with its legend of bringing good luck.

Over forty members of royal families, 250 rulers of foreign states, 1,450 ears, dukes, lords and ladies, 300 ambassadors and ministers; 1,500 representatives of the army, navy, judiciary, clergy, etc., formed part of the 7,000 guests at Westminster abbey.

America was represented at the coronation by the American ambassador, Whitelaw Reid; the American special envoy, John Hays Hammond; many Americen wives of English peers, members of the American diplomatic corps and many unofficial Americans, including Charles P. Taft, brother of President Taft.

G. W. HINMAN IS FIRST WITNESS

Chicago Publisher Testifies in Lorimer Investigation.

CLOSE FRIEND OF DEFENDANT.

Proprietor of Inter-Ocean Says There Has Been a "Jackpot" at Every Session of Illinois Legislature for Years. Ex-Governor Yates Testifies.

Washington, June 23.—George W. Hinman, editor and publisher of the Chicago Inter-Ocean, was the first witness at the regular session of the senate committee to investigate the election of Senator Lorimer.

To Attorney Marble's questions Mr. Hinman said he was a close friend to Senator Lorimer, but had received no money to be used in his election.

The witness was questioned at length in regard to the "jockpot" funds of the Illinois legislature. Mr. Hinman said he had never talked with anyone who said he contributed to a "jackpot," operated one or received money from one.

"But I believe there has been a 'jackpot' in every legislature of Illinois since I went there, twelve years ago," he added.

The attorney read editorials from the Inter-Ocean, in which the suggestion was made that prominent persons in Chicago and in Peoria "might be shaken by an investigation into Illinois legislature jackpots."

"To whom did you refer?" Mr. Marble asked.

"The liquor interest."

"Did common report connect any other interests with a jackpot?"

Money Interests Against.

"Not that I recall," the witness said, adding that the money interests of Chicago had taken sides against Senator Lorimer.

"Do you mean to say that prominent persons of Chicago, who looked upon themselves as better than Senator Lorimer, did the very things he is criticized for doing?" asked Kern.

"That puts it better than I could express it."

The editor was asked if the packing house interests were opposed to Lorimer.

"I would not say that they were particularly friendly," was the reply.

The witness declined at first to answer if he had borrowed money from either Hines, Tilden or Lorimer, because it was a question concerning his private business.

"Oh, well, I will answer under protest," he said, after thinking it over. "On one occasion I borrowed $4,000 from Mr. Hines."

"When?"

"Within the last eight or ten weeks."

After declaring again that he had never paid or received money to aid in Lorimer's election, Mr. Hinman was excused.

Yates Is Second Witness.

Richard Yates, governor of Illinois from 1901 to 1905, was the next witness.

"Did you ever hear of a jackpot when you were governor?" asked Mr. Healy.

"No, sir."

He then told the story of the passage of the "Mueller bill providing for municipal ownership of street railways." He related how, when governor, Speaker Mueller came to him with an account of two men attempting to bribe him to aid in the passage of the bill and how the bill was passed.

"Mr. Mueller died shortly afterward, because the house, instead of investigating the alleged bribery, investigated him, his friends told me," said Mr. Yates.

Mr. Yates said he believed men had approached Mueller. He also said John L. Lane, a Chicago Inter-Ocean reporter, told him in 1901 that a corruption fund existed in the legislature, but Lane could produce no witnesses, and the subject was not made a matter of formal investigation.

These were the only rumors of corruption, he said, that he was able to tell about.

Will Irwin of Maryville spent Sunday evening with his brother George and family.

Next Saturday and Sunday will be the third quarterly meeting of the Barnard charge to be held at Mt. Ayr. Preaching Saturday night and Sunday morning and night, with a basket dinner Sunday on the lawn of John Anderson, one-half mile north of the church.

Quite a number from this community attended the home coming at Harmony church last Sunday, and all reported a fine time.

THOUGHTS ON MARRIAGE.

Out here, where quick divorces
Are served with dinner courses,
A woman learns to train a man as she would have him be;
Or else she seeks the nearest court
For separation and support,
And marriage license coupons are attached to each decree.

Somehow there doesn't seem to be any "heart interest" in that sort of a love song. Let us turn to the pathetic poem of painful parting. Of course the setting and sentiment of most of them are wholly obsolete. The modern parting from a ladylove is frequently followed by a separation from a large lump of collateral as a balm for wounded affections. Why not recognize the matrimonial incompatibility of the high-flier and the joy rider in appropriate verse?

Barmann & Wolfert sold a Jackson car to S. G. Massie, who lives near Hopkins, this week.

Free Sample For Baby's Ills

Something can and must be done for the puny, crying baby, for the child that refuses to eat and is restless in its sleep. And since the basis of all health is the proper working of the digestive organs, look first to the condition of the stomach and bowels.

A child should have two full and free movements of the bowels a day. This emptying of the bowels is very important, as with it comes a clear head, a lightness of step, good appetite and sound sleep. But it is equally important to know what to give the child in the emergency of constipation and indigestion. Cathartics are too strong and salts and other purgatives are not only too strong, but the child refuses them because of their bad taste. Have you ever tried Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin? It is a liquid tonic that families have been using for a quarter of a century. It is mild, pleasant-tasting and promptly effective. It is good for you as well as the child, but there is nothing better to be found for children. They like its taste—you will not have to force them to take it.

First of all, if you have not yet used it, Dr. Caldwell would like to send you a sample bottle free of charge. In this way you can try it before buying. Later, when convinced of its merits, you can get it of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, just as thousands of other families are doing. The family of Mr. D. W. Spangler of Strattonville, Pa., as well as that of Mr. A. F. Johnson of Walnut Grove, Tenn., started with it in that way and now write that it is their one family necessity next to food itself. If you are unfortunate enough to have a sickly child, one given to constipation and indigestion, you should send for a free sample of this remedy.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. MEN OLD AT 35.

One Million Baldheads Who Thought Dandruff Wasn't Dangerous.

In the United States and Canada today there are nearly a million men who at 35 can be put in the baldhead class.

When these men had thick, vigorous hair, dandruff made its appearance.

That was the time to attack the enemy of mankind—the persistent little devil called a dandruff microbe, or germ that burrows deep down into the hair root and saps it of the vitality that is so essential to the hair.

Young men or any man, for that matter, beware of the dandruff germ; it is not a theory, but an actual condition that confronts you. That dandruff is caused by a germ is proven beyond question. That a germ destroys the hair root is today a matter of common knowledge.

The Koch Pharmacy has the remedy that kills the dandruff germs. They guarantee it to eradicate dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp in two weeks or money back. It is called Parisian Sage and can be obtained at druggists in every town in America—ask them for it. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every bottle of Parisian Sage.

Miss Lillis Knappenberger, a State Normal student, went to her home in Bolckow Thursday evening for a short stay. Miss Knappenberger has been re-elected to the primary department of the Bolckow schools the coming year.

Misses Ada and Della Dinsmore of near Parnell are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Hantz of East Third street.

FIFTEEN MILLION IN SUNDAY SCHOOLS

Secretary Lawrence Makes Report to Convention.

San Francisco, June 23.—There are now 14,946,504 Sunday school pupils in this country, according to the report of General Secretary Marien Lawrence, read in the International Sunday School convention here. This, said the secretary, means a gain of 1,431,006 pupils since the last convention three years ago. Since the last meeting at Louisville conversions have been made at the rate of over 1,000 a day. Secretary Lawrence thinks the schools are now ready for a "systematic in-gathering" and recommends energies toward increasing the enrollment.

New Deputy Treasurer.

Lincoln, June 23.—State Treasurer W. A. George announced that he had appointed O. A. Danielson of Center, Knox county, as deputy state treasurer to succeed E. S. Mickey, who resigned some time ago. Mr. Danielson will assume the duties of the office on July 1.

WOOL BILL UP TO THE SENATE

Finance Committee Makes Adverse Report on Measure.

MEANS LONG FIGHT ON FLOOR.

Republican Leaders Place Responsibility on Insurgents and Democrats. Number of Other Bills to Be Introduced in Upper House.

Washington, June 23.—An already badly tangled situation in the senate was still further complicated when the senate finance committee decided to throw the woolen revision and the so-called farmers' free list bills, recently passed by the Democratic house, into the open senate at once to take their chances along with Canadian reciprocity. Both measures, however, received formal adverse committee reports.

The committee refused to take responsibility for reporting in detail on these measures at any time and decided to cast the burden of senate legislation on the coalition of Democrats and insurgent Republicans suddenly brought about when the wool bill came from the house. The finance committee had been instructed to report the wool bill by July 10. It was reported that Senator Clapp proposed to offer a resolution of instruction as to the free list bill, but the committee forestalled such action.

"It has been demonstrated that the Republicans no longer are in control of the senate and responsibility has been taken from them." This statement from Senator Penrose (Pa.), chairman of the once all powerful committee on finance, reflected the chaotic conditions in the senate as a result of the fight over the house wool bill, which brought about a coalition of Democrats and progressive Republicans.

Interest in the senate situation centers largely about the fate of the Canadian reciprocity agreement.

Indorsing Senator Penrose's statement that the Republican party no longer was responsible for the conduct of affairs in the senate, Senator Lodge said he was glad the responsibility was to be placed where it belonged.

All guesses as to the possible date of adjournment, it is now admitted, are worse than useless.

Senators McCumber, Gallinger and Smoot were among the Republicans who counselled deliberation in the committee.

Insurgents Ready for Fight.

"The insurgents are ready for the fight," said Senator Bristow, who stood outside of the finance committee rooms while the committee was in session. "We are ready with revision bills. Senator La Follette has woolens and cottons, Senator Cummins has steel, and I am ready with sugar and lead. These bills take, off duties which admittedly are excessive on trust-controlled products.

"Now the question is what will the president do? If he is wise, he will accept our bills as amendments to the reciprocity measure. We can go before the country on this proposition and fight it out."

Regardless of the action taken by the finance committee, the real struggle will be over amending the reciprocity measure, and control is conceded to be in the hands of the Democrats. The question with them is whether the adoption of amendments which will revise other schedules will draw a veto of the reciprocity bill by President Taft. Democratic leaders in the senate have taken the position that they should not vote for amendments that would kill the reciprocity measure.

GRANDMOTHERS' BEAUTIFUL HAIR

Color and Beauty of the Hair Preserved with a Harmless Remedy Made from Sage.

Druggists everywhere comment on the fact that they are selling large quantities of sage for making old-fashioned "sage tea," such as was used by our grandmothers for promoting the growth of their hair, making it fluffy and beautiful and restoring its natural color.

The demand for this well-known herb for this purpose has been so great that one manufacturer has taken advantage of the fact and has placed on the market an ideal "sage tea," containing sulphur, a valuable remedy for dandruff and scalp rashes and irritations, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy.

The manufacturers of this remedy authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.
